"How Do I Look?"
How frequently a woman asks this question! How much thought and study she devotes to it. It is natural. A woman hates to think that she is growing day by day less charming and attractive and youthful to her husband's eyes than in the days of courtship.

A woman may always retain her charms and the vivacity and freshness of youth if she will take the proper care of her health. A tremendous percentage of ill-health in women is due to weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing remedy for all disorders of this nature. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, stops debilitating drains and soothes and tones the nerves. It preserves in a woman all the charm of healthy youth. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

"Favorite Prescription" is sold by all respectable dealers in medicines. Deal only where you are honestly treated. Any storekeeper who tries to give you a substitute for what you demand is not treating you honestly and you should take your trade elsewhere.

"For nine years I have suffered with falling of internal organs," writes Mrs. Mary Williams, of Raleigh, Wake Co., N. C. (Box 195). "I was troubled with bearing down pains. I had indigestion and female weakness and nervousness. I could not sleep at night. I was constipated and had urinary trouble. The doctor here said that no medicine would reach my disease. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' have cured me."

An every-day necessity in the home. A good home medical work. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth binding 31 stamps.

An Anecdote of Admiral Dewey.

One afternoon Mr. Dewey came down to my table on the gun deck. With an easy air he sat down on a camp stool and said quietly:
"So you're the ship's writer?"
"Yes, Mr. Dewey."
"And these, I presume, are the ship's books?"
"Yes, sir."
"This is your liberty book. Let me see." And Mr. Dewey turned over leaf after leaf, glancing down the list with a grim smile.
"Mr. Kimberley tells me that you are a conscientious bookkeeper," he said after a pause.
"The men think that I'm too much so, sir."

Dewey regarded me with a searching look.
"Why, what do they say?" he asked.
Boylike, impetuously anxious to learn what manner of man I had to deal with, I blurted out:
"They say they want less book and more executive officer."

Mr. Dewey's face darkened and his square jaw closed hard.
"If they mean by that that they expect me to sail ship on sweet words and fair promises in spite of past experiences, they will be badly out of reckoning," he said slowly.—Harper's Round Table.

The Coin Comes Back.

The large sums that are carried away from Monte Carlo are very few and far between. Generally what is won in one day is lost the next. There are no amusements of any kind. The administration looks after this detail with admirable judgment. Everything is absolutely concentrated in the casino. This is the magnet par excellence. You have delightful concerts free of charge, theatrical performances with the very best of talent at extremely moderate prices, but all within the walls of the all-absorbing casino.

Very few can resist the magnetism of play. If you win even a small sum, you feel obliged to continue; if you lose, you wish to regain, and so it goes on until in the end you have dropped more than you can well afford and are obliged to retire a sadder but wiser man or woman, with the option of applying to the casino authorities for the wherewithal to return home. This request is never refused a player who has lost.—Ludgate Magazine.

The Birdlike Love.

"Now, there's the people that buy canaries," said the bird dealer. "Queer people they are. The canary has no more love in it than a cat—not so much as a cat has for a canary. It loves nothing but feed, and it can't make believe as much affection as a cat can when it wants something. But hundreds buy canaries and love them—queer people; lonely people mostly. Some have friends, but that makes no difference about their being lonely. Nobody loves them, just the same."

"But the worst is nobody wants their love either. They are humblelike, though. They don't expect love. All they want is something to love—not much of anything, just anything. So the canary does."
"Yes, I sell lots of 'em canaries, and I can tell every time a customer comes in the door if he wants a canary or canary feed."—New York Commercial.

The plant known as vervain, which is not distinguished for its beauty and which grows nowadays utterly disregarded, was so sacred to the Druids that they only gathered it for their divinations when the great dog star arose, in order that neither sun nor moon should see the deed.

You Can't Hear It.

There are many sounds animals can hear which are inaudible to man. Mr. Galton, the famous anthropologist, has invented a little whistle with an adjustable plug, by which it can be rendered more and more shrill till it ceases to give any note to our ears, yet a dog will hear it as a whistle still and answer readily to the call.

THE SIX HUNDRED.

Some Incidents of That Mad Ride to Death at Dalaklava.

Of that mad but heroic charge a hundred incidents are preserved—thrilling, humorous, shocking. The Cornhill Magazine tells of a man of the Seventeenth lancers who was heard to shout, just as they raced in upon the guns, a quotation from Shakespeare, "Who is there here would ask more men from England?"

The regimental butcher of the Seventeenth lancers was engaged in killing a sheep when he heard the trumpet sound for the charge. He leaped on a horse. In shirt sleeves, with bare arms and pipe in mouth, he rode through the whole charge, slew, it is said, six men with his own hand, and came back again, pipe still in mouth!

A private of the Eleventh was under arrest for drunkenness when the charge began, but he broke out, followed his troop on a spare horse, picked up a sword as he rode, and shared in the capture and perils of the charge. The charge lasted 20 minutes, and was over before such daring or such suffering packed into a space so brief? The squadrons rode into the fight numbering 673 horsemen; their mounted strength when the fight was over was exactly 195.

It was all a blunder, but it evoked a heroism which made the blunder itself magnificent. And as long as brave deeds can thrill the imagination of men the story will be remembered of how—

Stormed at with shot and shell,
Boldly they rode and well,
Into the jaws of death,
Into the mouth of hell—
Noble six hundred!

Farming in Olden Times.

The Romans were the first people to practice plowing between the rows of wheat as we do between corn. The idea was suggested in a singular manner. A warlike tribe, having ravished a section of land at the base of the Alps, undertook to destroy the growing crops by plowing them up, but instead it was found that the rows accidentally billed were twice as large as those that were not. The harrow or hoe used by the Chinese farmer is of the rudest construction. The plow is usually drawn by women of the lowest classes.

Two hundred and fifty years ago, when the corn stolen from the Indians by our Puritan ancestors was planted in the sand of Cape Cod, the only instrument used was a ponderous and ill-shaped Dutch hoe, which required a heavy man to handle at all. Our first processes were not much in advance of those of the barbarians of central Europe. Today we number several hundred tools, from the most delicate to the splendid specimen of the combined reaper and thrasher, which cuts, thrashes, winnows and bags grain at the rate of hundreds of bushels per day.

English as Written in Norway.

Here is a good specimen of English as she is written abroad. We find it in St. Martin's-le-Grand, the postoffice magazine:

"The hotel for tourists on Tortegro (owner, Mr. Igar Oiene), is laying by the foot of the eminent 'Skagastolten' den, the largest field in Jotunheimen for topmounters. The best leaders are to be had. It is the best place for country layers. Different interesting places for summer trips. Nearest stopping place for steamers—Skjolden. Recommended as station for passage to Lom-Gudbrandsdalen."

"Topmounters," as a description of the climbing fraternity, is decidedly good. But what is a "country layer?"—London News.

"IT'S NOT MY WAY."

"It's not my way."
How often is this heard.
"It's not my way, to speak the kindly word;
I feel enough, but 'tis not well to speak.
To tell my loving out it seems so weak."

"It's not my way."
How often hearts have broken
Because the loving word has been unspoken.
Because the smile we looked for was a frown,
The hand that should uplift, but held us down.

"It's not my way
To speak the word that craving love requires,
To voice approval, foster vain desires."
Hearts often faint and fall out by the way,
Because to speak is not your way.

"It's not my way."
Ah, well, when death shall come
And touch the best loved lips and make them dumb
Sad will it be for you if grim regret
And stern remorse upon your heartstrings set

Their fingers firm.
Because it is their way to torture and to wring,
Then you'll remember every little thing.
The smile you did not give, the word unspoken
Which might have glided life and kept a heart unbroken.

Aye, then you will remember!
And in blood sweat and agony will say,
"Would it had been my way
To love, approve and tell it out, so meet,
For it was you that made my life complete."
—Rose Seelye-Miller in Observer.

DEALING WITH LUMBERMEN.

Peculiar Tricks Indulged In by Both Buyer and Seller.

There is an old retired merchant in Detroit who delights in recalling his experiences when an active man running a general store in one of the northern cities of the lower peninsula.

"I used to reap a harvest when the men were coming out of the woods," he relates. "They were not up in styles, and about any old thing would suit them provided the color was right and the fit even passable. But there were trickers among them, and I had to have my wits about me in order to keep even with them."

"How much is that hat?" asked a strapping six footer, who arrived from camp one day with a pocketful of money.

"Two fifty," I replied.
"Then he informed me that he always had the crowns of his hats punched full of holes in order to keep his head cool and his hair from coming out. I soon had this attended to, and then he asked what the hat was worth. 'Two fifty,' I responded in surprise, but he laughed at me for asking such a price for damaged goods. He had me, and got his hat for $1, while the jolly crowd with him had a laugh at my expense. He wanted to look at some 'fiddles,' and after pricing one at $10 concluded to take it.

"Where's the bow?" he asked, as I was doing up the package.

"You only bought the fiddle," I laughed. The others saw the point and laughed too. The giant tried to bluff me, but I kept good humored, and got even on the hat by charging him $1.50 for the bow. I not only got even, but the others were so pleased with my 'Yankee trick' that they spent plenty of money with me."—Detroit Free Press.

Deserved It.

"Sheriff," remarked the condemned murderer, as that functionary proceeded to put the black cap over his head, "I seem to be the sinner, sure, of all eyes."

Without any further delay the trap was sprung, and the hardened wretch went to his doom.—Chicago Tribune.

"MANIPULATED"

Colonel Chinn came all the way from Kentucky with the astounding information, which he imparted to a reporter of the Carson News, that the Democratic State Convention was "manipulated" into the passage of a resolution denunciating of Senator William M. Stewart. Of course prudent regard for longevity will not justify the charge that the Colonel spoke with a forked tongue, so we will mildly suggest that somebody has told him an internal lie, which he, the Colonel, has innocently repeated.

The Democrats who composed a large majority of that convention, were men whom no sane man, or twenty sane men, would attempt to "manipulate" for or against the interest of any person, place or thing on the face of the earth. They knew their own minds and had the honesty and courage of their convictions, and any indication of an attempt to hoodwink them would, in all probability, have been immediately supplemented by the unceremonious exit of the would-be manipulator through one of the windows of Clough and Crosby's hall. We are afraid that the imaginary reputation of the redoubtable Colonel would not have saved him from such rapid transit if he had attempted to manipulate that convention, as he is now endeavoring to influence the legislature of our little State.

But perhaps somebody has been guying our distinguished guest. It was another convention held at the same time when the manipulating was going on, and not in the modest little Democratic gathering across the street. There all was peace and harmony, except concerning some minor matters which were speedily and satisfactorily adjusted. In relation to the anti-Stewart resolution, we question if such perfect unanimity and enthusiasm were ever manifested by any Democratic convention ever held in the State. It unanimously adopted and with such prolonged applause that it was some time before the Secretary could proceed to read the next resolution. That same resolution was endorsed by every Democratic County convention held in the State, and every Democratic member was elected solely upon that issue and will of course redeem his solemn pledge in the joint convention. Over 2100 Democrats in the State manifested their approval of the resolution by voting for the nominees of the convention that adopted it. We regret that a gentleman who came to our little State with such excellent credentials from prominent men—whom we have his word for—should be made a victim of such misinformation, and falsehood, and which may in fact seriously embarrass his usefulness in his new field of labor.

MR. NEWLAND'S SPEECH

The speech of Mr. Newlands at Carson Wednesday evening, a synopsis of which was published in yesterday's JOURNAL ought to be read by every voter in the State. It is more than a vindication of his candidacy for United States Senator. No intelligent or right thinking person can read the charges, clear proven, of the infamous treachery of Stewart and the Southern Pacific at the last election, with the reasons therefor, without feeling in his heart that it is not only Mr. Newlands' privilege but his duty to enter the Senatorial contest, and if possible relieve our commonwealth from the incubus and blighting curse of corporate tyranny, persecution and political serfdom, under which it has suffered and groaned for so many long and weary years.

The cause for the enmity of the Southern Pacific company to Mr. Newlands ought in itself to be sufficient to enlist for him the sympathy and support of every honorable man in the State of Nevada. It is because he manfully kept his pledge to his party and to the people, in voting against the infamous Funding bill. The corporation which has so long controlled the politics of Nevada has no use for a Congressman who holds his promise to the people who elected him, more sacred and binding than an edict issued from the headquarters of the railroad bosses in San Francisco. The corporation wants a man like Stewart who can be depended upon at all times to disregard the instructions of his party, the people, or the legislature, to blindly obey the order of his corporation masters.

It was for this reason that Stewart and his horde, acting under orders from the railroad company, commenced their work of treachery to Mr. Newlands as soon as he was placed on the Silver Party ticket, and a supposed clear road worked out for Stewart's return to the Senate. But the scheme did not work. The people were apprised of the dirty Stewartian job, and they elected Mr. Newlands by a larger majority than any candidate in the State, while the legislative tickets of his would-be betrayer failed to pan out half the number of members necessary for his election. The popular voice manifested approval of the man who had not betrayed his trust and was equally emphatic in denunciation of the one who did.

Mr. Newlands was endorsed by the people at the polls while Stewart was repudiated. If the legislature is true to its trust, it will ignore the man the people set aside and take up and triumphantly elect the one who is so manifestly their choice.

STATE LEGISLATURE

THE NINETEENTH SESSION.

Fourth Day—Contested Seats Considered—A few Bills Introduced.

CARSON CITY, Jan. 19, 1899. SENATE.

In the matter of the contest between Lord and Conboile for a seat in this body, the committee on election presented majority and minority reports.

After the reading of the majority and minority reports Senator Comins stated that as there was absolutely no evidence in the matter other than that embodied in the reports which was vague, he moved that action be postponed until Monday at 2:30 p. m. Motion carried.

A resolution from the committee of election that the President and Secretary of the Senate empower and direct the Sergeant-at-Arms to procure all the ballots cast in Storey county at the last general election was referred to the committee of the whole.

A message from the Governor was received, transmitting reports of State officers, also the report of the committee on mileage.

Mr. Comins introduced Senate Bill No. 2 to provide for copying the journal of the present session for the State Printer, appropriates $100 to W. O. Lamb for so doing. Referred to the committee on ways and means.

As there is to be a meeting of the Silver party State central committee held this afternoon, the Senate decided to adjourn till 11 a. m. to-morrow.

ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Kinney gave notice of a bill to repeal Chapter 6 of the Law of Nevada passed at the session of 1895, and Mr. Patterson of a bill to amend the law relating to the destruction of noxious animals.

Mr. Meacham moved that when this Assembly adjourned that it shall be until Monday next, at the usual hour. Adopted.

Senate Bill No. 1, to create a legislative fund for payment of salaries, mileage of members and attaches, $32,000, and also the report of committee on mileage were considered in committee of the whole and passed or adopted as correct. Fifteen cents per mile going and coming is allowed giving Lincoln county members—2,134 miles—$320.10 and Ormsby county members—2 miles—30 cents.

Senate resolution ordering 1,000 copies of the Governor's first biennial message to be printed was adopted. At 1:45 the Assembly adjourned.

Wallace and Stewart's Treachery.

Mr. Newlands in his speech the other night charged Stewart and Wallace with an attempt to intrigue with the Republican party as to its congressional candidate, and referred among other things to O. H. Grey, Governor Colcord, Mr. Turrittin, Senator Flanigan and other members of the Republican party in confirmation of his statement.

The News interviewed Mr. Gray regarding this and gives his statement which confirms Newlands.

Mr. Gray said: "Some time in September last Governor Colcord, Mr. Coffin and myself were standing on a street corner engaged in conversation. Senator Stewart came up and asked who are the Republicans going to put up for Congress? Governor Colcord suggested that nothing yet had been decided in the matter. Mr. Stewart rejoined that we ought to nominate some good man for that position and named Mr. Hummel of Washworth as an excellent man for the position. I then suggested that there was no scarcity of eligible Republicans for that position and that fifty good men could be found fit to represent Nevada in Congress or for that matter in the Senate either." Mr. Stewart replied, "Oh, I know that, but you ought to put up your best man for that position. That would bring Newlands out of his hole. He says he will not put up a cent except his assessment which is $250. He says to spend money in excess of the assessment would be a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act." Governor Colcord suggested that the whole matter would be carefully considered before any action was taken and that the welfare of the Republican party would be the primary consideration and that he hoped that personal consideration would not for a moment be entertained. Mr. Coffin said he doubted the policy of making any nomination. When Mr. Stewart broke up the interesting colloquy by suggesting that we all go over to the Magnolia and take a drink. The invitation was accepted with alacrity.

Later on Mr. H. C. Dunn and myself went to Reno the day before the convening of the convention. On alighting from the cars we were met by Mr. Wallace and escorted to a shady spot on the sidewalk and invited to sit down, Mr. Wallace taking a seat between us. He at once began to assure us that he felt the deepest solicitude for the welfare of the Republican party and volunteered his advice as to the action it should take, especially as to the propriety of making a nomination for Congress. After having drawn heavily on his resources in logic and apparently believing that we were convinced of that point he named for the man who in his unqualified opinion would make the best man. He extolled the high character and great ability of Dr. Patterson; pictured to us the deplorable condition the party would be in by presenting a ticket without a head and asking the support of the people. He spent more than a half hour in making his argument, and when asked how it came that he took such a lively interest in the Republican party he said that of course the old Republicans would be back in 1900 and he was anxious that it should in the future, as in the past, be entitled to the support of all the Republicans, saying: "I will be back with you and I want the party to present a solid front so as to be able to assume its former position as the dominant party."

Mr. Dunn suggested that his argument was alright but the motive might be questionable.

TRAIN ROBBERS CAPTURED.

The Humboldt Bandits Jailed at Burns, Oregon.

Two men who are supposed to have held up and robbed the east-bound express train at Humboldt on the morning of July 14, 1898, have been arrested and are in jail at Burns, Oregon. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Taylor of this county, who has had these men under surveillance for some time.

An indictment by the grand jury has been pending against them since November, 22, 1898, under the names of Leslie Bowie, alias J. J. Smith, alias James Stanley, and James Shaw, alias Charles Wagner.

The railroad detectives, headed by J. N. Thacker, have been working on the case ever since the hold-up and claim that they have strong and sufficient evidence to convict these men of the robbery. They are known to the officers as hard men and both have served terms in the Arizona penitentiary for train robbery.

Sheriff McDavid will leave this afternoon for Burns to bring the outlaws here to stand trial. He will be accompanied as far as Ontario by Detective Thacker.

The robbery for which these men are wanted was one of the most daring and well planned hold-ups ever recorded in the crime annals of the Pacific Coast. It occurred at 2 o'clock on the morning of July 14, 1898, about one mile this side of the Humboldt House—Silver State.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

For the hundredth time, and then the resultless effort of trying to explain why the people will never cease going to see Uncle Tom. It is a fact that more people have seen this play in America than have ever seen any other play. Of course, as a basis of why, it might be said that more people have read the book upon which it is founded than ever read any other book, the Bible excepted; but this explanation does not explain why hundreds of people in every community go to see the play every time an opportunity presents itself. Other plays have as much pathos, as much tenderness, more comedy, better tragedy. It may be that the key is found in this, that none deal so much with liberty. Be that as it may, age but adds to Uncle Tom's immortality.

The excellent J. F. Stowe Company will appear at McKissick's Opera House, on Thursday, January 26, in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

TREACHERY PROFOUND.

Wallace Controls the State Central Committee.

HON. W. E. SHARON DEPOSED.

All Honor to Those Who Remain Loyal to the State in Which They Live.

CARSON CITY, Jan. 19, 1899.

At an adjourned meeting of the State Central Committee of the Silver party, held in the Supreme Court room of the capitol to-day, the following action was taken.

Forty-four members and proxies being present, Chairman W. E. Sharon called the meeting to order, and before the echo of his first rap which called the convention to order had died away, C. M. Sain of Colorado, Idaho, Gold Creek and Lovelock was on his feet and in a most persuasive tone of voice attempted to get recognition from the Chair.

Simultaneously Senator Comins of White Pine addressed the chair and was recognized.

Mr. Sain attempted in several ways to argue with the chairman that he was out of order; that he (Sain) was in order, but fruitlessly, and Mr. Comins at once introduced his resolution, which has hitherto been published, condemning Senator Stewart in direct violation of his party pledge by voting for the Southern Pacific funding bill and in commendation of Congressman Newlands in voting against it.

The Senator made a most vigorous speech in support of the resolution, and when through Mr. Sain arose and moved that the resolution be laid on the table, which was done by a vote of 31 to 13.

F. M. Huffaker of Storey county introduced a resolution which embodied sentiment to the effect that the present meeting of the State Central Committee was illegal, because it did not state the reason for which the meeting was called. The remarks of Mr. Huffaker in support of the resolution were most eloquent. He stated that it was unbecoming to the members of that committee, as American citizens, to attempt to depose Mr. Sharon as chairman of the committee by the liberal use of proxies, without the knowledge of their originals being aware for what they would be used for when given. He explained to the committee that this was not a contest as between men, but between the principle of right and wrong.

The committee, however, differed from Mr. Huffaker, and upon Mr. Sain's motion to lay upon the table they were placed there by the same vote of 31 to 13.

Mr. Sain then introduced his resolutions concerning Mr. Newlands, which were vigorously opposed by Mr. Nixon of Humboldt. Mr. Nixon admitted that Mr. Newlands was a candidate for the United States Senate in opposition to Mr. Stewart, but denied the allegation that Mr. Newlands was in any way an enemy to silver or a man dangerous to society. He called the attention of the committee to it would be a great mistake for such an illustrious body to publish to the world such foolish accusations and would brand the committee and every member present who voted for them with disgrace. He related several instances where Mr. Newlands had proven in the most substantial manner that he was a friend of the silver cause. He cited the fact that at the National Silver Convention held in St. Louis in 1896, Mr. Newlands was considered a good enough silver man to be honored by that representative body as its chairman.

His remarks had the same effect as those of the two gentlemen who preceded him in debating the resolutions, and the same were carried by a vote of 31 to 13.

Mr. Sain then called for the reading of the resolution introduced one week ago, calling for the resignation of Chairman Sharon. This resolution was debated by J. E. McDonald and Senator Comins in behalf of Mr. Sharon.

Mr. Sharon also took the floor and made a strong speech in his own behalf. He recited the duplicity of Wallace and Stewart and their attempts to induce the Republican State convention to nominate a strong man in opposition to Mr. Newlands. In support of his argument he read letters signed by O. H. Gray which contained a conversation which passed between Wallace, others and himself and also a conversation between Stewart, Governor O'Connell, Tremmer Coffin and himself. In both these conversations Stewart and Wallace strongly urged them as representatives of the Republican party to nominate a strong man for Congress, so as to, using their words, "smoke Newlands out of his hole." Mr. Sharon stated that he denied their right to depose him as chairman of the committee and maintained that it mattered not as to what the majority decide he and his friends still maintained that he was chairman of the State Central committee of the Silver party and would act as such until relieved by the next State convention. Neither Mr. Sharon's speech or the proofs which he had read had any effect upon the committee and by the same vote the motion asking for his resignation was carried. Upon motion of Mr. Sain, Mr. Sam P. Davis was called to the chair as temporary chairman and at this juncture Mr. Sharon and his friends walked out of the committee room. As soon as Davis took the chair Mr. Sain moved to adjourn which motion was unanimously carried characteristic of the tyrannical methods of the men bent on wrecking the fortunes and future of the Silver party, men whom the party has honored in the past with high offices, who in the hour when the party has needed help have prostituted to their own base and selfish ends, the party once of the people but now dominated by the traitors who have used it for years as a plaything to their ambition. The men who have walked out are the true patriots and around this nucleus is to be formed the re-organization of the Silver party representatives of the people in whose councils the insinuating voice of Wallace will not be heard nor the treachery of Stewart or the corruption of the railroad find a voice.

PIONEER MINISTER DEAD.

Rev. Alfred F. White Passes Away at Santa Rosa.

A Santa Rosa, Cal., dispatch of the 17th says:

"Rev. Albert F. White, LL. D., a pioneer Presbyterian minister of this State, died here this afternoon. He was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oakland from 1852 to 1855; Carson City, from 1862 to 1871; San Leandro, from 1872 to 1876, and Los Angeles from 1876 to 1882. He was an eminent scholar and a noted author and writer. He was a native of Sullivan county, Ind. The funeral will occur from the First Presbyterian Church in this city Thursday."

The Rev. Albert F. White was the first Superintendent of Public Instruction elected in this State. He was also Superintendent of Public Instruction under the Territorial government of Nevada. He was well known throughout this State, where he leaves a host of friends. May the roses of California bloom for centuries over the grave of this worthy pioneer.

Wedding Bells.

On January 16, 1899, George L. Coffin and Miss Carry M. Seavy were married at the residence of the bride's parents in Placer county, California.

"Pete," as Mr. Coffin is familiarly known, is one of Reno's boys, having grown from infancy to manhood's estate among us. He is one of eight brothers, all of whom are respected citizens of the State of Nevada. George has held responsible positions in years past in the employ of the O. & C. R. Co., and now has charge of a general merchandise store in Sodaville. With all of George's good qualities we still feel that he is not the equal of his bride in that respect.

Although Mrs. Coffin is a California girl she has lived in Reno a number of years and was a student of the University, which she left to become a teacher. She has many friends in Reno, all of whom hold her in the highest esteem for her kindly and sunny disposition. Upon their arrival in Reno they were entertained at a general family reunion at the home of the groom's brother, E. B. Coffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffin departed yesterday morning for Sodaville, where they will reside. The Journal joins with their many friends in well wishes and hopes their joys throughout life may be as numerous as the sands of the desert.

An Interesting Case.

All people are interested in a new case that has recently cropped up in Reno, and they have good reason for being so. This case contains many striking features. It is Mr. F. P. Dunn's show case on Virginia street, down by the iron bridge. It is very beautiful, his new window display of all that is modern in photography. There one may see large opalatypes small autotypes and lovely porcelains. Just think! Artistic photographs on genuine porcelain. And what do you think of this? He makes photographs on handkerchiefs—silk handkerchiefs. What more appropriate present could be imagined than one of these with your photo on it?

The Douglas Petition.

To the Voters of Douglas County: Believing that the people should have a voice in the election of a U. S. Senator, if we are elected to the legislature we will be willing to leave it to the people of Douglas county who we shall vote for for U. S. Senator. Personally we are opposed to William M. Stewart and will not vote for him unless instructed to do so by a majority of the voters of Douglas county.

R. T. WILKERSON.
J. H. MARTIN.

This pledge was given by the gentlemen from Douglas before the election, and now the people of Douglas county have instructed them by the introduction of a petition which was presented yesterday to the Legislature. It contains the names of two-thirds of the voters of Douglas county. This certainly settles all question as to how the Douglas members will vote, and some of the Stewart papers are plainly offering insult by intimating that they will break their pledge. They are both honorable gentlemen and will never do so. Following is the petition:

"To the Honorable the Legislature of Nevada, and especially Hon. J. H. Martin and R. T. Wilkerson, Senator and Assemblyman-elect of Douglas county—Gentlemen: Your petitioners, citizens of Douglas county, strongly urge the vital importance of electing a man to the United States Senate who is neither controlled or employed by any railroad or other corporation, as we believe Wm. M. Stewart to be, and that you cast your ballots for a bona fide resident of the State of Nevada, who will work for the best interests of its citizens. We heartily endorse the principle of home rule.

Jakie Morris, who has been for some time in San Francisco preparing himself for a career on the stage, is the author of a new song entitled "The Steeple Chase." The song is a catchy, spirited gallop. Readers' Eccentric English.
Randle's use of the English language, too, was eccentric, not to say ludicrous.
In "A Simpleton," when he wished to signify that two people turned their backs on each other in a fit of temper, he wrote, "They showed napes." Describing the complexion of the New Haven fishwives in "Christie Johnstone," he says, "It is a race of women that the northern sun peaches instead of rosewoodizing." In "Readinna" he describes a gentleman giving a lunch to two ladies at a railway restaurant as follows: "He souped them, he tough chickened them, he brandied and ochinealed one, and he brandied and burnt sugared the other" (brandy and ochineal and brandy and burnt sugar being Randle's euphemisms for port and sherry respectively). While he was preparing his series of articles on Old Testament characters he read what he had written to John Coleman on one occasion and came to this startling passage in his argument:

"Having now arrived at this conclusion, we must go the whole hog or none."

Coleman objected to this phrase,
"You don't like the hog, I see," said Randle. "Well, it's a strong figure of speech and it's understood of the people; but—yes, you are right. It's certainly Sigmatal. So out it goes."
